Policy on Conflict Minerals and High-Risk Areas

1. To embody the Razer motto of ‘playing hard and playing fair’, we, at Razer, want to ensure that the world remains an arena where we can all continue to play in. In doing so and as part of our #GoGreenWithRazer initiative, we endeavor to play our part and battle climate change to make this world a better place for everyone.

2. One of our key areas of focus under the #GoGreenWithRazer initiative is to ensure that our supply chain procures minerals responsibly, and to avoid any sources that would directly or indirectly fund conflict minerals. As such, we are progressively implementing the following measures:

   (a) Require our suppliers to conduct due diligence to ensure responsible sourcing in all geographies and high-risk areas;

   (b) Support the efforts of key stakeholders, governmental bodies, industry groups’ advocacy to promote peaceful, diverse, and stable economies;

   (c) Utilize the OECD Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chains from conflict-affected and high-risk areas. We will also use RBA Conflict Minerals Reporting Template to provide transparency; and

   (d) Participate in RBA Responsible Minerals Initiative programs and WWF’s moratorium on deep seabed mining.

3. In implementing the above measures, we are working closely with our suppliers to achieve the following:

   (a) Compliance with all applicable environmental laws and material content restrictions;

   (b) Upstream suppliers to comply with RBA Code of Conduct; and

   (c) Not to directly or indirectly finance perpetrators of human rights abusers.

Razer does not support or condone conflict minerals sourcing and purchasing materials from high risk areas. We remain conflict-free and on the same note, we expect our suppliers to be strictly aligned with our stance on conflict minerals and high risk areas.

As we consider the sourcing of conflict minerals and the procurement of such conflict minerals from high risk areas as serious violations of our policies, should you be aware of any such violations, it may be reported at play.fair@razer.com.

Yours Sincerely,

Global Sustainability Manager
